jbvb Senior Member	12-10-2023, 04:56 PM Nice, Dave. I'm going to look around the Illinois site and see what turns up in a broader search for "build your own"+"card	board building"		#103

Nichael_Hohn	12-10-2023, 05:37 PM Dave, Your fence looks mighty fine! I like what you did with the background building.			#103

	I'll work in the scenic textures today and tomorrow on both sides of the fence. I won't lock in the water tank, it's way too f entire area is finished.	fragile to leave in p	place until .	that

I added a back step and a tree at the corner of the fence. I still need to find my dogs and build a doghouse.

Here's the scene with the backdrop panel replaced. It doesn't quite fit any more, I'll need to trim the top a bit.

And from the other side:

Modeling 1890s (because the voices in my head told me to)

You have really been busy. Very, Very nice work. You are inspiring me to move a bit faster on my layout.

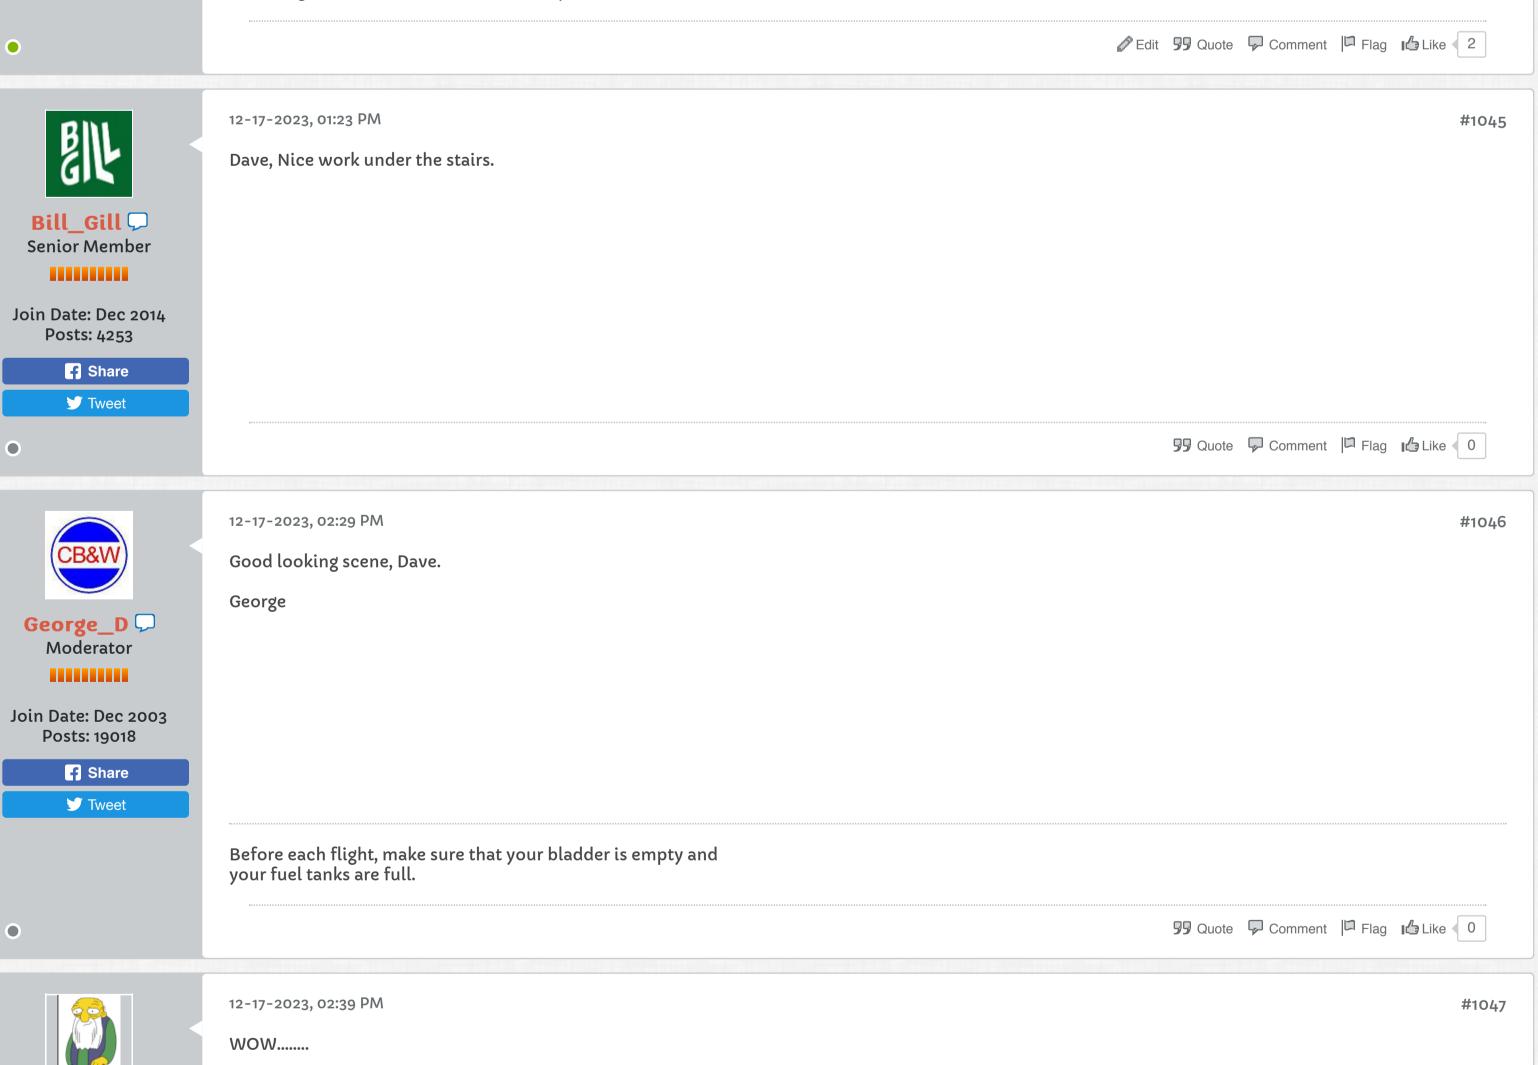

Thanks for posting the photos......John

	It boggles my mind to inspire -anyone else- to work faster, given how slowly I work!!!
